

Our problem statement is to fix the current parking problem at USC.

Currently we do not have enough parking spaces, and the current parking app is not very useful in telling students where parking is available.